

ABSTRACT

A non-aqueous electrolyte secondary battery negative 5 electrode material is provided wherein a negative electrode active material containing a lithium ion-occluding and releasing material which has been treated with an organosilicon base surface treating agent is surface coated with a conductive coating. Using the negative electrode 10 material, a lithium ion secondary battery having a high capacity and improved cycle performance is obtainable.